Time and Place: Bobst Library, NYU, Avery Fisher Center, 2nd Floor (70 Washington Square South, New York, N.Y. 10012), Tuesdays, January 20 through April 27, 2016 (except March 9 for spring break), 6:30-8:20 p.m. Note that decisions about closings made for C.W. Post may not affect Palmer classes at NYU. In general, if the subways are running, this class will meet even if weather is poor.

Contact Information: Bobst Library, NYU, Suite 707, 70 Washington Square South, New York, N.Y. 10012; tel. 212-998-2681, fax 212-995-4072, email fernando.pena@liu.edu. Email communication is always preferable to telephone.

Office Hours: Tuesdays 3-5 p.m. and Wednesdays 3-5 p.m., and preferably by appointment, in the Palmer suite in Bobst Library (7th floor). Also available at other times and by appointment.

Purpose, Scope and Method: This course is meant as a practical introduction to the field of rare book and special collections librarianship. Over the course of fourteen weeks, we will define rare books and special collections, learn about the different types of materials housed in special collections, and talk about what it means to be a rare book and special collections librarian. We will examine many aspects of the field, including collection development, description and access, preservation and conservation, security, and outreach and promotion. By the end of the course, you will have gained an understanding of the current issues and best practices in rare book and special collections librarianship.

At the end of the semester, students will be familiar with:

- The profession of rare book and special collections librarianship
- The different types of rare book and special collections libraries
- The types of materials found in rare book and special collections libraries and their significance as primary sources
- The history of printed books and how this relates to specific problems encountered in managing rare book repositories
- The importance of collectors and antiquarian booksellers in helping build special collections
- The acquisition of rare books and special collections
- How rare books and special collections are described and made accessible
- Issues in security and the preservation and conservation of rare books and special collections
- Staffing of rare book and special collections libraries
- Managing, assessing and evaluating special collections libraries
- Promotion, outreach, fundraising and donor relations in rare book and special collections libraries

This course will make heavy use of the case method, and students will gain experience in applying information and finding solutions to typical problems in rare book and special collections. In order to give students experience in the essentially collaborative nature of rare book and special collections librarianship, this course will include in-class group exercises and written assignments prepared by pre-assigned groups and turned in for a grade. Students will also work on individual written assignments and will be encouraged to visit rare book and special collections, antiquarian bookshops, and related events on their own time during the term.

Palmer School Learning Objectives: This course, which focuses on managing rare book and special collections libraries, addresses the following Palmer School goals and student learning objectives (SLOs):

- Goal I (Apply the principles, ethics and philosophy of the profession while serving their patrons, institutions and communities), especially SLOs—
 - a. Explain and apply the foundations and principles of the library and information science professions; and
 - b. Analyze policies and trends affecting libraries and information organizations and the profession.
- Goal IV (Staff, manage and lead libraries and information centers of all types), especially SLO—
 - b. Explain and apply principles and practices of management and leadership.

Written Assignments and Final Grade: Students will be assigned written exercises that test their ability to solve typical problems in the rare book/special collections context, with reference to pertinent sources and documents. Each assignment will require students to deal with the following aspects of professional practice: issues, major information sources, and significant documents of the field. For full credit, all written assignments must be submitted in a timely manner and in a professionally appropriate form. Seven written assignments (including group assignments) and final site visit report are weighted as follows:

Seven written assignments	60% (5%-10%each)
Library site visit report & short class presentation	15%
Class participation	25%
Total	100%

Assignment Description	Points Allotted
Class Participation	25 points
Seven Written Assignments Various due dates (full written assignment descriptions on Blackboard; all should be turned in via Blackboard links in the manner described)	(60 points)
Assignment 1 : Primary Sources in Research Collections Due on February 3	10 points
Assignment 2: Analysis of Collection Development Policies Due on February 17	10 points
Assignment 3: Purchasing Special Collections Material Due on March 2	10 points
Assignment 4: Group Exercise on Describing Rare Books Due on March 16	5 points
Assignment 5: Group Exercise on Rare Book Cataloging Due on March 23	5 points
Assignment 6: Disaster Planning Case Study/Scenario Due on April 6	10 points
Assignment 7: Security Case Study/Scenario Due on April 13	10 points
Final Paper on Library Site Visit Due on Sunday, May 1	15 points
TOTAL	100 points (= 100%)

Class Participation: Because much of the work for the class will take place during meeting times and because collaboration is the usual mode of work in libraries, attendance and participation are important. Students who miss more than three class meetings cannot expect to receive full credit for this course. Those who plan to miss any session should let the instructor know well ahead of time in order to schedule a make-up session or to complete extra work.

This course will make extensive use of group work in graded written assignments and in-class exercises. In addition, pre-assigned groups will be required to develop discussion questions on course readings and to lead the class in discussion (at least twice per group during the semester).

The instructor may occasionally ask students to turn in exercises completed during class, and these may count toward the class participation portion of the final grade. Students, working either individually or in groups, will be expected to complete graded written assignments outside of class.

Finally, students will be encouraged to visit antiquarian booksellers and rare book and special collections libraries, exhibitions and events on their own time and to report back during class, in Blackboard, or in written assignments.

Grading Rubric: Written assignments in this class will be graded according to the following guidelines:

Letter Grade	GPA	Definition
A	4.0	Outstanding achievement. Student performance demonstrates full command of the course materials and shows a high level of originality and/or creativity that far surpasses course expectations; grammatical errors, misspellings, and typos are minimal or non-existent.
A-	3.7	Very good work. Student performance demonstrates thorough knowledge of the course materials and exceeds course expectations by completing all requirements in a superior manner; grammatical errors, misspellings, and typos are minimal (average one-two per page) or non-existent.
B+	3.3	Good work. Student performance demonstrates above-average comprehension of the course materials and exceeds course expectations on all tasks as defined in the course syllabus; grammatical errors, misspellings, and typos are present (average two-three per page).
B	3.0	Adequate work. Student performance meets designated course expectations, demonstrates understanding of the course materials, and is at an acceptable level; grammatical errors, misspellings, and typos are present (average four-five per page).
B-	2.7	Marginal work. Student performance demonstrates incomplete understanding of course materials; grammatical errors, misspellings, and typos are frequent (average six-ten per page).
C+	2.3	Unsatisfactory work. Student performance demonstrates incomplete and inadequate understanding of course materials; grammatical errors, misspellings, and typos are very frequent (average 11-14 per page) and adversely affect the structure and flow of the narrative.
C	2.0	Unacceptable work. Student performance demonstrates incomplete and inadequate understanding of course materials; grammatical errors, misspellings, and typos are ubiquitous (average 15 or more per page) and adversely affect the structure and flow of the narrative.
F	0.0	Failing. Student failed to turn in an assignment or plagiarized.

Planning Your Time: The State of New York specifies that a three-credit, for-credit course should require a minimum of about 150 hours. This is a rigorous, professional, graduate course. Students should prepare to spend much more than 150 hours to get full benefit from the course. For assignments that are intermittent, students should divide their time weekly so that they are not overwhelmed by the fast paced schedule and due dates of graded exercises. For planning purposes, students may find the estimations of time commitment below helpful. Keep in mind that this is an indication of minimum time necessary to complete the required work in a satisfactory manner.

Written assignments (7 x 6 hours each)	42 hours
Library site visit report	15 hours
Readings (14 weeks x 5 hours/week)	70 hours
Class meetings (14 sessions x 2 hours/each)	28 hours
Total	155 hours (average approx. 11 hours/week)

Required Textbook and Readings: There is no textbook for the field of rare books and special collections librarianship, as none of recent vintage exists. However, all students intending to work with rare books should acquire John Carter's ABC for Book Collectors (New Castle, DE: Oak Knoll Books, 2004; 8th ed., or any more recent edition, easily purchased on Amazon, Barnes & Noble, etc.). The entire 8th edition of the book can be downloaded for free from www.ilab.org/download.php?object=documentation&id=29.

Students should become familiar with its contents and be able to use this terminology in ways that are consistent with the practices of the rare book and special collections field. Also highly recommended is Geoffrey Ashall Glaister's inexpensive, paperback reference work, Encyclopedia of the Book. 2nd ed. (New Castle, DE and London: Oak Knoll Press & The British Library, 1996).

Most of the other class reading are available freely online or will be available in full text through the Library Science and Information Science databases accessible to Palmer School students through the LIU library web page. Some course materials listed in this syllabus are available in NYU Bobst Library's reference area on the ground level (all non-circulating). Some online sources may be available on site at NYU (and on site at other libraries), but may not be available to Palmer students at home.

When you have a chance, browse recent, hard-copy issues of these journals:

- The Book Collector (Bobst Z990.B6, vol. 2 (1953) on)
- Libraries and Culture (Bobst Z671.J67, vol. 23:1 (1988) on; BobCatPlus Electronic Access [onsite only])
- Library and Archival Security
- Library Quarterly (Bobst Z671 .L8, vol. 1 (1931) on)
- Library Trends (Bobst Z671.L83, vol. 1 (1952) on)
- Papers of the Bibliographical Society of America (PBSA) (Bobst Z1008.B5p, vol. 7 (1913) on)
- The Private Library: Journal of the Private Libraries Association (U.K.)
- RBM (formerly Rare Book and Manuscript Librarianship (RBML)) (Bobst Z688.R3 R32, vol. 1 (2000) on; PDFs of issues of both of these journals also available freely to the public at <http://rbm.acrl.org/>)
- RBMS News Editor's Blog (<http://rbms.info/blog/category/news-events/> and <http://www.rbms.info/publications/#newsletter> for links to current RBMS news blog and to PDFs of its predecessor, the semiannual RBMS Newsletter, which appeared in print from 1984 to 2009).

These should be available in various research collections throughout the New York City area; see the NYPL catalog and OCLC for locations.

Plagiarism: Plagiarism is an extremely serious offence in academic circles, and transgressions can involve serious penalties. A student must not adopt or reproduce ideas, words, or statements of another person without appropriate acknowledgment. A student must give credit to the originality of others and acknowledge an indebtedness whenever he or she does any of the following: quotes another person's actual words, either oral or written; paraphrases another person's words, either oral or written; uses another person's idea, opinion, or theory; or borrows facts, statistics, or other illustrative material, unless the information is common knowledge. As a rule of thumb, when in doubt, cite the source! More on plagiarism can be found at <http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/589/02/>. LIU's policies on plagiarism can be found at <http://www2.liu.edu/cwis/cwp/library/exhibits/plagstudent.htm>.

Palmer School Incomplete Grade Policy: LIU Post grade policy allows for incomplete grades “when, due to extenuating circumstances, a student needs additional time to complete a course.” To request an incomplete, students are required to submit a written form and include a description of the extenuating circumstances along with appropriate documentation (e.g., a doctor's note). Requests must be approved both by their professor and by the dean of the College of Education, Information & Technology (CEIT) before the incomplete grade is assigned according to LIU Post policies.

Citation Formats & Style Manual: Use Modern Language Association (MLA) format consistently for all assignments unless you have a strong preference for another popular citation format (e.g., APA, Turabian, Chicago Manual of Style, etc.). Examples of MLA and other formatting styles can be found at <http://www2.liu.edu/cwis/cwp/Library/workshop/citation.htm> as well as at <http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/section/2/>.

If you have questions about grammar or want to ensure that your style is clear, effective, and readable, see William Strunk, Jr.'s The Elements of Style, online through <http://www.bartleby.com/141/>. This succinct work is available cheaply in used copies at many used book stores or online.

Students with Disabilities or Special Needs: Please do not hesitate to contact the instructor via email or in person early in the semester to discuss any modifications that may be necessary to accommodate special needs.

First Assignment: Joining a Rare Books Listserv

Objective: To familiarize yourself with the current debates and discourse in the profession.

Join a listserv relating to rare book and/or special collections. All are required to join EXLIBRIS-L (see <https://list.indiana.edu/sympa/info/exlibris-l> for instructions). Try to follow the frequent posts and discussions, as we will occasionally raise these discussions in class.

You may also wish to join the SHARP list (Society for the History of Authorship, Reading, and Publishing) and/or the Book Arts list (<http://www.philobiblon.com/>).

As part of this assignment, please email the instructor some evidence of your joining one of these lists (e.g., subscription acknowledgement, a recent post to the list, etc.).
