

Uluulu Moving Image Archive
University of Hawaii

Aloha!

Uluulu Moving Image Archive at the University of Hawaii – West Oahu is pleased to accept applications for the Summer 2016 Roselani Media Preservation Internship. Uluulu is Hawaii's official state archive for moving images dedicated to the care, preservation, and digitization of film and videotape related to the history and culture of Hawaii.

The 2016 Roselani Intern will receive a $3,000 stipend and the opportunity to acquire practical experience in a moving image archive during this 6-8 week internship.

Intern activities at Uluulu may include opportunities in:

- Cataloguing using media asset management software
- Processing and creating inventories of archival audiovisual materials
- Preservation activities including cleaning and re-housing of audiovisual materials, and environmental monitoring
- Digitization of videotapes, documents and photographs
- Social media information management

Applications due March 15, 2016; Selection by April 1; Internship dates May - September

For more information and to complete an application, visit
<http://wp.me/pybz0-xo>

We look forward to receiving your application!

Uluulu: The Henry Kuualoha Giugni Moving Image Archive of Hawai'i
University of Hawai'i - West O'ahu
91-1001 Farrington Hwy. | Kapolei, HI 96707 | (808) 689-2740 |
uluulu.hawaii.edu