The library's daily operation include the below but not limited to:

- Assist in interlibrary loan and document delivery (NLMs Doctype)
- Assist HSS residents/fellows/staff in use of library resources
 - Including PubMed, Ovid, ClinicalKey, UpToDate and RefWorks
- Assist providing library orientations

Desired Qualifications:

The opportunity is available to any Library Science student with an interest in medical libraries, but special consideration will be given to candidates with the following:

- Completion of coursework in Health Sciences Resources.
- Completion of coursework in basic Archives management
- Experience with Content Management Systems and/or web design.
- Previous library experience.
- Strong communication skills.

Compensation:

The internship position is being offered with a stipend amount of $20/day.

Hours:

The candidate would need to be able to commit a minimum of 8 hours a week (2 days at 4 hours per day e.g.) to this position for a minimum of 6 weeks. The schedule is somewhat flexible, but would need to be Monday through Friday daytime hours.

To apply: Send resume and cover letter to the Medical Library at Medlib@hss.edu by September 2nd (Friday), 2016 at 5pm.

About The Kim Barrett Memorial Library

Since its founding in 1936, the medical library at Hospital for Special Surgery (HSS) has been a vital resource. During the 40-year tenure of its first librarian, Kim Barrett, the medical library evolved from these modest beginnings into a state-of-the-art, modern resource for medical education and research. The mission of the Kim Barrett Memorial Library, today, is to manage and improve effective access to information resources, which encourage excellence in patient care, teaching, learning, and research conducted by HSS and its affiliations.

About the Hospital for Special Surgery:

HSS (founded as the Hospital for Ruptured and Crippled) is the oldest orthopedic hospital in the United States. For more than a century, Hospital for Special Surgery (HSS) has trained the minds, hearts, and hands of some of the finest orthopaedic surgeons in the nation. A steadfast commitment to excellence in education dates back to the Hospital's earliest traditions and continues to influence its present-day mission and vision.
